Delta Reports Financial and Operating Performance for October 2012

ATLANTA, Nov. 2, 2012 – Delta Air Lines (NYSE: DAL) today reported financial and operating performance for October 2012.

During the month of October, Delta’s unit revenues improved 5.5 percent versus prior year, primarily due to corporate revenue gains and continued capacity discipline.

In response to Hurricane Sandy, Delta cancelled over 3,500 flights in October, which caused a two percent system capacity reduction versus prior year. The company is estimating that the hurricane negatively impacted October revenues by $45 million and reduced October profit by approximately $20 million. Delta is still assessing the impact to November, but expects it to be less than October. Delta’s October unit revenue improvement was approximately one point higher than it would have been without the hurricane impact.

Delta’s New York area operations are recovering from the storm’s disruption. As of Thursday, Delta is operating at close to full schedule at New York-JFK and Newark, and operating at 80 percent of its normal schedule at LaGuardia. The company anticipates flying a full schedule at LaGuardia today.

“I’m proud of the efforts of Delta’s employees throughout the system in responding to the devastation of Hurricane Sandy and taking care of our customers,” said Richard Anderson, Delta’s chief executive officer. “It’s during events such as these that the team’s dedication to our passengers really shines.”

Despite the impacts of the hurricane, Delta continued to have excellent operational performance in October. Delta’s completion factor was 98.0%, and 85.5% of flights arrived on-time.

The company’s financial and operational performance is detailed below.

Preliminary Financial and Operational Results

October Consolidated PRASM change year over year	5.5%
Projected December quarter fuel price per gallon, adjusted	$3.15 - 3.20
October On-time performance (preliminary DOT A14)	85.5%
October Mainline completion factor	98.0%

Note: Fuel price includes taxes, transportation, settled hedges, and hedge premiums, but excludes mark to market adjustments on open hedges.
