GLOBALSTAR ANNOUNCES MEGAN FITZGERALD TO RESIGN

Ms. Fitzgerald to remain with the company through the second launch of additional satellites later this summer

MILPITAS, CA. — (June 13, 2007) — Globalstar, Inc. (NASDAQ:GSAT), a leading provider of mobile satellite voice and data services to businesses, government, and individuals, today announced the resignation of Megan Fitzgerald, effective August 17, 2007. Globalstar expects to complete the launch of four additional Globalstar satellites prior to her departure. Globalstar also announced that, upon Ms. Fitzgerald's departure, Tony Navarra, President of Global Operations, will assume Megan's responsibilities on an interim basis. Mr. Navarra has been with Globalstar and its predecessor since 1991 and served as Executive Vice President of Business Development until 1999 when he was appointed President. Mr. Navarra has approximately 30 years of engineering, satellite development and program management experience.

"I would like to thank Megan for her outstanding contribution and service to Globalstar," said Jay Monroe, Chairman and CEO of Globalstar, Inc. "Megan has been an integral part of Globalstar's operations and she will be missed. We also thank her for participating in an orderly transition of her responsibilities during the next two months. Over the past year she has dealt with an arduous travel schedule, having just returned from three weeks in Kazakhstan overseeing last month's successful launch of four satellites. We are grateful that she will remain with Globalstar to oversee and manage the final launch of our spare satellites. The spare satellites will be used to augment our current constellation and will provide two-way voice and data service through the launch of the second-generation satellite constellation."

Mr. Monroe added, "Megan has made a considerable contribution to our second-generation space segment by playing a prominent role in defining and contracting for this critical aspect of Globalstar's future. Megan will also remain responsible for securing a second-generation satellite launch contract. In many ways, the manufacture and launch of the second-generation constellation represent achievements that Megan has already accomplished, and so we respect her desire to pursue other challenges. I am confident her experiences at Globalstar will enable her to take new and exciting steps in her career. On behalf of Globalstar, I wish Megan continued success in all of her future endeavors.”
