Akorn, Inc. began sending the following communication to employees on June 29, 2017.

Planning our Future

Fresenius Kabi and Akorn Begin Integration Planning

June 29, 2017 -- Earlier this month, leaders from Akorn and Fresenius Kabi met to kick off the planning phase for Akorn to become part of Fresenius Kabi by early 2018. This is an important first step as we wait for regulators to complete their review and for the Akorn shareholder vote on July 19, 2017.

Fresenius Kabi has hired The Boston Consulting Group (BCG), a highly regarded firm that specializes in company integrations, to help assure our future integration is as smooth as possible for employees, customers and business partners.

Together, we have formed integration teams co-led by leaders from Akorn and Fresenius Kabi. The teams have begun to draft plans and create a collective vision for the future combined organization. Their planning will cover all areas of the business, from how the combined businesses will be organized, to how best to handle sales, marketing, distribution, R&D, manufacturing, finance and more. While the teams are permitted to make plans, implementation will not occur until the transaction closes.

Akorn and Fresenius Kabi are complementary companies. Together, we expect to be able to offer employees more career opportunities and customers a broader portfolio of medicines in more settings of care in the United States and around the world.

We still expect the transaction to close by early next year, though we will be prepared to close should regulators approve the transaction earlier. As a reminder, until the transaction closes, Akorn and Fresenius Kabi must continue to operate solely as independent companies.

As important as all our future decisions are, what is equally important is how we will go about planning our future together. That's why one of the first things both companies agreed on was a set of guiding principles, and these include:

- Using values – especially collaboration and customer focus – as our guide for working together;
- Understanding and honoring our company cultures;
- Integrating Akorn into the Fresenius Kabi division/region structure with the goal of optimizing our combined strengths and abilities to serve customers;
- Encouraging retention. An exodus of talent only helps the competition. Fresenius Kabi values experience, especially in new customer/product segments;
- Taking time to learn each other's resources, capabilities and expertise, forming teams to consider best practices, processes and ideas;
- At the same time, moving quickly and communicating frequently and openly;
- Being respectful and working together, demonstrating fair treatment, minimizing disruption and putting the customer first in decision-making.

We are committed to keeping you informed of our progress and we expect to establish regular communications on the integration later this summer when there is more to communicate. In the meantime, feel free to talk to your senior leaders or HR representatives. You can also submit questions to [].
