“Michael brings a unique combination of diverse experience and skills to our boards,” said Bill Sullivan, chair of the Edison International board of directors. “We look forward to his insights and counsel on a broad range of critical issues.”

“Michael’s public policy expertise, from a shared state, national and international perspective, as well as his extensive legal background and business leadership abilities, will be extremely valuable to our companies,” said Pedro Pizarro, president and chief executive officer of Edison International.

Camuñez, 48, is president and chief executive officer of ManattJones Global Strategies, LLC. Prior to joining ManattJones Global Strategies in 2013, Camuñez served in the U.S. Department of Commerce as assistant secretary for market access and compliance, where he helped to lead the federal government’s efforts to open new markets for U.S. goods and services. In that role, he visited more than 30 countries to advance U.S. trade and economic policy.

Before his Department of Commerce service, Camuñez was special counsel to President Obama in the Office of the White House Counsel and special assistant to the president, where he helped manage senior appointments to the domestic cabinet. Prior to his White House roles, Camuñez was an equity partner at the law firm of O’Melveny & Myers, LLP, where he worked for more than 10 years.
