Fiserv to Combine with First Data to Create Global Leader in Payments and FinTech

- On January 16, 2019, we announced that Fiserv has agreed to acquire First Data in an all-stock transaction, uniting two premier companies to create one of the world's leading payments and financial technology providers and an enhanced value proposition for its clients.
- Under the terms of the agreement, First Data stockholders will receive a fixed exchange ratio of 0.303 Fiserv shares for each share of First Data common stock they own for an equity value of $22 billion. This represents $22.74 per share, or a premium of 29%, based on the five-day volume weighted average price of Fiserv stock as of January 15, 2019.
- Like Fiserv, First Data is a client-focused, global company providing best-in-class technology solutions that help merchants and financial institutions grow their businesses.
- Fiserv has long admired First Data for its industry-leading capabilities in merchant acquiring and global issuing services, which complement our existing business and enable an enhanced value proposition for our clients and their customers. With First Data, we will increase our scale and expand our global reach and presence, as well as provide clients with an expanded set of capabilities.
- This combination will create a differentiated financial services platform and enable greater optionality to serve all clients with excellence in the evolving payments landscape.

This transformative combination will advance our ability to redefine the way people and institutions move and manage their money, creating exciting benefits for our clients and associates.

- With this transaction, we will be better positioned to offer a broader suite of high-value client solutions with an even more extensive range of end-to-end capabilities.
- In addition, we will have one of the largest and broadest merchant services platforms in the world, including deep experience in partnering with financial institutions, comprehensive distribution channels and capabilities such as e-commerce, integrated payments and cloud-based, point-of-sale-solutions.
- Fiserv will also meaningfully expand its issuer processing capabilities across credit, debit, risk and network services.
- We will create a five-year investment program aimed at continued innovation in new and existing technologies, including data-focused solutions, digital enablement, risk management, and enriched billing and commerce to create additional differentiation.

The transaction is subject to customary closing conditions and regulatory approvals and is expected to close during the second half of 2019.

- There are many reasons to be excited about this announcement, yet until the transaction closes, Fiserv and First Data will continue to operate as independent companies.
- Our teams have strong track records of successfully integrating companies and, when the time comes, we will apply our collective experience to successfully integrate Fiserv and First Data, as we each maintain a focus on serving clients with excellence.
- Following the close of the transaction, Fiserv shareholders will own approximately 57.5% of the combined company, and First Data stockholders will own approximately 42.5%, on a fully diluted basis.
- The combined company will maintain the Fiserv name and brand and be headquartered in Wisconsin, as well as maintain a principle executive office in New York. We remain committed to numerous communities in which we operate around the world.
- Fiserv President and CEO Jeff Yabuki will serve as Chief Executive Officer and Chairman of the board of the combined company and Frank Bisignano, First Data Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, will become President and Chief Operating Officer, and will serve as a director on the board of the combined company.
