NEWS RELEASE

Leading Proxy Advisory Firms ISS and Glass Lewis Support ALL of Allergan Board's Voting Recommendations

- ISS and Glass Lewis Recommend AGAINST Appaloosa's Proposal to Immediately Separate Chair and CEO Roles -

DUBLIN, IRELAND – April 15, 2019 – Allergan plc (NYSE: AGN) today announced that both leading independent proxy advisory firms, Institutional Shareholder Services Inc. (“ISS”) and Glass Lewis & Co. (“Glass Lewis”), have recommended that the Company’s shareholders vote FOR all of the Company’s proposals and AGAINST the dissident shareholder proposal (“Proposal No. 6”) calling for the immediate separation of Chair and CEO roles at the Company’s 2019 Annual Meeting of Stockholders, to be held on May 1, 2019.

Commenting on the ISS and Glass Lewis reports, Allergan’s Board of Directors said: “We are pleased with the support we have received from both leading independent proxy advisory firms recommending FOR all of the Company’s proposals and AGAINST a proposal calling for the immediate separation of Chairman and CEO roles. Their recommendations affirm our position that our plan to adopt separate Chair and CEO positions with the next leadership transition is the best approach for Allergan shareholders. The Board and management team are fully focused on improving the company’s operational and financial performance and creating value for shareholders.”

In supporting the Allergan Board’s recommendations, ISS’ report stated:

“In this case, the board has already been responsive to the request of the prior year’s proposal by adopting an independent chair policy to be phased in at the next CEO transition. It has also adopted a robust lead independent director role, with clearly delineated and extensive duties, and has substantially refreshed itself appointing six new directors since 2016...there are no significant concerns regarding the board’s current leadership structure sufficient to suggest that an immediate split of the CEO and chairman roles is warranted at this time rather than at the next CEO transition. As such, support for this proposal is not warranted.”

In supporting Allergan’s leadership structure, Glass Lewis noted the following:

“We are not convinced that adoption of this proposal is necessary at this time, given the board’s stated intention to phase in an independent director as chair at the time of the next CEO transition. We recognize that, until that time, the board will not have separated chair/CEO roles. However, we believe that the Company's phasing in of this policy upon the next CEO transition essentially implements the request of this proposal. Accordingly, we do not believe that adoption of this proposal would affect any meaningful change in the Company's leadership structure following the next CEO transition. Thus, we do not believe support for this measure is warranted at this time."

Allergan's Board of Directors encourages shareholders to vote FOR each of the Company's proposals (No. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5a and 5b) and AGAINST the shareholder proposal No. 6.

Additional discussion of election of directors, proposal No. 6 and the Board's recommendations is included in the Company's 2019 Proxy Statement. The Board of Directors strongly encourages Allergan shareholders to consider and support the Board's position on these important issues related to our company's Board leadership. Allergan's 2019 Proxy Statement has been filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), and can be found at the company's website at <https://www.allergan.com/investors/financial-information/proxy-materials>.

Allergan's Annual Meeting of Stockholders is scheduled to take place on May 1, 2019 at The Conrad Hotel, Earlsfort Terrace, Dublin 2, Ireland, at 8:30 a.m. local time. Shareholders are encouraged to vote their shares regardless of whether or not they plan to attend the Annual Meeting in advance of the voting deadlines outlined in the Company's Proxy Statement.
